

Intempo Digital introduces the iFi – the perfect Hi-Fi for the iPod generation

You bought your iPod to listen to your music...so now hear it like never before! Experiencing digital music just got better, with its minimalist style but maximum sound quality; Intempo Digital introduces the iFi-01, a powerful surround sound speaker system for iPod, MP3 and other audio devices.

The iFi-01 looks as good as it sounds, 2x 15 watt rotating stereo speakers provide directional sound and stand tall on the clean aluminium tower design, while the central cylinder houses a 30 watt dedicated subwoofer. The 5 ¼ inch bass drive unit provides excellent bass response and can be controlled along with the treble and volume by the remote control.

The built-in universal dock synchronises and charges iPod, iPod Mini, iPod Nano and iPod Photo* making it the ultimate docking station. The USB mini B enables downloading from a PC or Mac so your music library can be regularly updated and the 3.5mm line in jack with stereo cable lets you connect with other audio devices.

“We have worked with world-leading designers and manufacturers to produce a replacement Hi-Fi for the iPod generation.” Said Bernadette Spofforth, Founder of Intempo Digital.

“Its streamlined design means it complements the most stylish of interiors – even if your pad isn’t a palace the slim design means it’s ideal for bijoux apartments and city living and with only one cable it also means an end to clutter!”

The iFi-01 is available from Empire Direct, Micro Direct, Amazon.co.uk, Play.com and Dabs.com and Zoodex.com and is priced around £229.

All Intempo Digital products are covered by the 'Intempo Digital Safe and Sound' warranty. Customers are offered market-leading after-sales support, which includes a next day on-site exchange and hotline support.

 The iFi-01 does not charge iPod Shuffle*

About Intempo Digital

Intempo Digital was set up to develop and market a range of affordable, cutting-edge technologies that enhance your lifestyle and complement your living and working spaces. The company has strived to make its products easy-to-use and intuitive, whilst injecting fun and freshness into the audio manufacturing market.

Intempo has a range of DAB digital radio products; the multi-awarding winning KT range comes in an array of colours including baby pink, double cream, latte, baby blue and slate grey. The 'haute couture' versions are the KTM-01 and the KTM-02 both of which have been customised by fashion designer Matthew Williamson and support the Make-A-Wish charity. The BB-01 is an ultra sleek and stylish portable CD FM/DAB radio and the RS-01 is a sophisticated alarm clock with a wake up call to DAB, FM, CD or traditional beeper.

In summer 2005 Intempo ranged a docking station and speaker system, the iDS-01 for iPods and MP3 players. Available in black and white, it outsold established brands catapulting Intempo to second place in the UK PC speaker market within four months of launch. (GfK figures December 2005)
